

EMORY Department of Gynecology
UNIVERSITY and Obstetrics
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

The Division of Gynecologic Oncology is seeking a fellowship trained, experienced Gynecologic Oncologist committed to an academic career in Gynecologic Oncology. The position will hold a rank of Assistant Professor, Associate Professor or Professor, commensurate with qualifications and experience.

The Division, which has offered oncology services since 1974, seeks to find the most effective ways to prevent, detect and treat gynecologic malignancies and has tremendous opportunities for growth in research, patient care and education. Emory's gynecologic oncology faculty are members of the Winship Cancer Institute, Georgia's only National Cancer Institute-designated comprehensive care center which serves as Emory's coordinating center for cancer research, education and care.

Duties and Responsibilities:

This position will encompass service to the University in areas of patient care, teaching, and research, and committee work appropriate to their professional training and capabilities and their career goals. Responsibilities include research as well as teaching medical students, residents, and fellows in the diagnosis and treatment of Gynecologic Oncology concerns. Faculty members are expected to supervise mid-level providers assigned to the clinical practice location.

Faculty Members are also expected to demonstrate outstanding activity in the teaching aspects of the Department. Specifically, this would include:

- Providing teaching instruction and supervision to residents, fellows, and medical students in Gynecologic Oncology.
- Providing lectures to fellows, residents and medical students as requested.
- Attending Grand Rounds, M&M Conferences, Journal Club, Division meetings and other Departmental activities.
- Participating in mentorship of medical students, residents and fellows.

Qualifications:

Qualified candidates must have a terminal degree (MD or DO), successfully completed a 4-year ACGME-accredited obstetrics and gynecology residency program, and completion of a National Gynecologic Oncology Fellowship and be Board Eligible or Board Certified in obstetrics and gynecology. Licensure by the Georgia Composite Medical Board will be required prior to commencement of employment.

Interested candidates are encouraged to apply on the Emory Careers website at <https://faculty-emory.icims.com/jobs/57416/job>.

The Department of Gynecology and Obstetrics:
