

SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

DEPARTMENT OF
OBSTETRICS & GYNECOLOGY

The University of New Mexico, School of Medicine and Health Sciences Center is actively seeking a candidate that will contribute to the climate of inclusivity. We invite applications to apply for an opening at the open rank level in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology. This will be a full time position within the Division of General Gynecology. The successful candidate will be involved with clinical teaching and clinical research responsibilities including at off site clinics with potential for transdisciplinary scholarship and research opportunities. The Department of OBGYN is committed to diversity, equity and inclusion, and uses these standards as measures of excellence.

The University of New Mexico Health Sciences Center (UNMHSC) is the largest academic health complex in the state. UNMHSC combines its four mission areas – education, research, patient care and community engagement – to provide New Mexicans with the highest level of health care. The School of Medicine at UNMHSC is celebrated for its innovations in medical education and has earned a reputation for making diversity in the physician workforce a priority. The lifestyle is also very attractive: Albuquerque, a beautiful city with mountains to the east and a mesa to the west, is renowned for its fantastic weather. Outdoor activities are abundant and the cost of living is moderate, while offering all the amenities of a large city. The state of New Mexico is multicultural and diverse with excellent local cuisine, breathtaking sunsets, multiple cultural and historic sites, lakes, rivers, deserts and mountains.

The qualified applicants must meet the following minimum requirements:

- Eligible to work in the United States
